CHICAGO STOCK YARDS TEEM WITH ACTIVITY

Livestock Shipments Are Handled In Usual Manner

Chicago, May 21.—(AP)—The stock yards teemed with unprecedented activity today as reconstruction of the fire ravaged area and the handling of an almost normal volume of livestock shipments continued apace.

A wooden village made up of hastily erected barracks and shed mushroomed up amid the ruins of Saturday's destructive blaze, and many commission men and executives directed their trade from crates and boxes in the makeshift clipboard structures.

Receipts of 26,000 hogs, 12,000 cattle and 5,000 sheep fell little short of expectations. The animals were accommodated without great difficulty for only 40 per cent of the corrals were demolished and the sheep sheds and hog alleys were untouched.

The huge plants of the major packing companies function as usual, as none was scathed by the flames which roared across a widespread section of the yards a few rods to the east.

Loss $8,000,000.

A reckoning of the loss lowered original estimates of the damage to approximately $8,000,000 and officials said 80 per cent of this was covered by insurance.

The body of Isaac Meen, 60-year-old watchman, was found today two blocks from where he had discovered the first flames Saturday. He shouted the alarm to fellow workers and then ran for his life, but the wind-whipped fire caught up with him before he could squirm out of the crazy-quilt of stock enclosures. He was the only life lost in a conflagration that fanned out over 60 acres. A dozen firemen still remained in hospital, however.

Two thousand workmen took up the task of clearing the debris and fashioning temporary offices for those whose headquarters had been destroyed.

The two banks in the path of the fire opened on time in a partially wrecked building and the other in a new location.

W. J. O'Connor, official of the Union Stock Yards & Transit Company, pointed out the handicap to handling incoming livestock was not great although some facilities had been lost and 653 carloads of animals were unloaded at the docks with little hardship. Truckers trundled in their cargoes and made their deliveries as they had before.

"We'll carry on nicely," O'Connor announced.

Merchants moved their stock back into scorching stores in the Halsted street neighborhood and the 75 families rendered homeless sought new dwellings. Plans for replacing some of the larger buildings, hotels and the International amphitheater were discussed.

Presley Price of Springfield was a business caller here Monday.

WEATHER

For Jacksonville and vicinity—Generally fair weather is predicted for Monday and tomorrow. It will be cooler today the observer stated in his forecast last night.

The mercury climbed to 83 yesterday afternoon according to the report issued by the U. S. Cooperative Weather Bureau at the Norbury Sanatorium last night. At sunset the thermometer registered 84, while the lowest temperature yesterday was 61. Barometer readings were: A. M. 30.10, P. M. 29.96.

Illinois: Generally fair Tuesday and Wednesday, except showers Tuesday in extreme south portion, much cooler Tuesday.

Indiana: Generally fair Tuesday and Wednesday preceded by showers Tuesday south portion; much cooler Tuesday.

Wisconsin: Generally fair cooler Tuesday; Wednesday fair in east, partly cloudy and somewhat warmer in west portion.

Missouri: Generally fair Tuesday preceded by showers in south and east-central portions; much cooler, except in extreme northwest; probably fair Wednesday with rising temperature in northwest.

Iowa: Generally fair Tuesday and probably Wednesday; cooler in east and south portions Tuesday, somewhat warmer Wednesday in central and west portions.

HUGH JOHNSON DEFENDS NRA IN STATEMENT

Blames Controversy On Camp Followers Of Darrow

By Richard L. Turner
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, May 21.—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, tonight blamed the raging controversy over monopolistic trends in NRA upon Clarence Darrow's "camp followers" rather than on that famed attorney and his review board, which had scathingly criticized the recovery agency.

"I collaborated in forming this board because I thought they would point out specific evils that we could correct," he said. "Mr. Darrow assured me that this was exactly his idea. If we had had only Clarence Darrow and the original review board to deal with, we would have seen some constructive action. It was the camp followers who came in later that made the trouble."

His allusion was to a story current in the capital that the Darrow report, made public today with a vigorous reply from Johnson, was extensively influenced by radical associates of Darrow's.

Johnson's statement was issued after Darrow, also in a formal statement, had promised another report showing conditions much worse than those pictured in his first report.

Darrow said Donald S. Richberg, NRA counsel, would need more than 157 pages to steer around the report still to be presented.

Johnson prefaced his statement with an assertion that Darrow was "a grand old man" who long had held his "admiration and affection," but that he did have to answer the attorney's questions.

"He asks," said Johnson, "if it is true that monopolistic practices exist under specified codes? If they do, his report does not specify what or where they are. It simply finds 'generalities.' It could have said all that without any hearings at all."

"The report is simply dogma. Perhaps there are some monopolistic abuses of the codes, but there are no monopolistic codes, x x x."

"As I have frequently said, some people, who want to make profits by paying less than substance wages, or to live off the labor of children have suffered some loss of ancient legitimate privilege. That loss accounts for something like 90 per cent of the complaint of oppression of small enterprises which fills the air with this political propaganda."

"I think the law intended to secure substance wages. I think the American people want that. If such is not the intent, let's change the law, but let's not blame NRA for carrying out a congressional mandate."

"Beyond this (which the board does not mention) the truth is all the other way. The bituminous coal code not only saved thousands of small personally-owned mines but it actually brought more thousands of them back into operation."

"The lumber code and all the textile codes saved hundreds of small mills. The retail code interfered just in time to prevent great chains from gobbling up what was left under the anti-trust acts, of the little retail stores."

"The rubber tire code arrested a wholesale slaughter of tens of thousands of tire dealers. It is monopolistic out throat price cutting that destroys the little fellow and not provisions such as are in the codes against selling below cost."

"The effect of nearly all the codes is to stop and turn back the slaughter of the little fellow that has been going on under the anti-trust acts for the past sixteen years."

"This is not just argument. It is cold hard fact and to the extent that this board prevents that fact or ignores it entirely—it slanders NRA, when it talks about monopolistic practices hurting the little fellow under the codes."

FINDS REAL KEY TO UNEMPLOYMENT

Oyster Harbors, Mass., May 21.—(AP)—Walter J. Kohler, former governor of Wisconsin, today said the real key to the unemployment situation in the United States was in the construction industry.

"Speaking on the NRA and economic recovery before the sixth annual meeting of the plumbing and heating wholesalers of New England, Kohler said the construction industry in normal times was an eight billion dollar industry, approximately equal to agriculture."

"It contains the major unemployment problem awaiting solving today," he said.

Kohler said he believed the effectiveness of codes depended upon the manner in which they were enforced.

Chicago, May 21.—(AP)—The evolution of the humble finger nail took another step to add to Milady's allure today.

The latest according to nails of several Chicago girls, is to have the likeness of your boy friend tinted in silhouette on your nails or if you haven't a boy friend whose profile would enhance beauty of the nails, there's always your favorite flower, outdoor scene or whatnot.

There's even been a studio opened up here where an artist spends all his time painting scenes and pictures on women's nails.

FEW SCATTERED RAINFALLS PAY MIDWEST VISIT

Wheat Stands In Three States Virtually Ruined By Heat

Chicago, May 21.—(AP)—The parched farm lands of the middle west, blistered by prolonged drought, thirstily lapped up a few scattered rainfalls today and awaited anxiously and unappeased the general showers predicted for tonight by the weather bureau.

Meanwhile, from many sources came reports of the irreparable damage already caused by the burning sun and hot, dry winds. H. C. Donovan, Chicago crop expert, asserted that wheat stands in western Kansas, eastern Colorado and Nebraska were virtually ruined. In other sections of the wheat belt, he said, crops may be saved if heavy rains are received within two weeks.

Crop conditions in general range from poor to bad, Donovan said, except in eastern Kansas and western Missouri, where recent rains stopped deterioration and provided a new start.

Fields Burned Out
Burned out fields pointed out by half a crop of hay in Illinois, said B. W. Snow, another Chicago grain expert. Snow found the soil hot, loose and dry to a depth of 1-2 inches. Oats average less than 2 1/2 inches in height and large areas are fired in spots, he said.

The drought menace received a setback in northern parts and parts of central Wisconsin, where drenching rains wetted down forest lands which have threatened to burst into flames under the force of merciless sun. In general, however, the downpour was regarded as a mere reprieve, for the rainfall still was far short of normal.

Thunderstorms swept over Chicago early in the evening and a sharp ten minute downpour drenched the loop area and most of the western and northern suburbs. Weather bureau officials at the municipal airport estimated that 26 of an inch of water fell.

The rainfall was accompanied by a sharp drop in temperature, thermometers declining briskly from the day's unofficial high mark of 94 at 3:30 o'clock to 67 before darkness had fallen.

A fifty mile an hour wind damaged, slightly, several unfinished buildings at a Century of Progress and banged a few chimneys and loose signs to the ground.

PAUL ANGLE TO BE SPEAKER AT I. S. B. PROGRAM

Commencement Exercises To Be Held Thursday Evening

The Illinois School for the Blind will hold its commencement exercises in the chapel of the school at eight o'clock Thursday evening, May 24th.

Paul Angle, librarian, State Historical library, has been selected as the speaker for the evening. Mr. Angle has chosen for his subject "Historic Illinois." He is one of the leading authorities on Illinois history, and his address will be of keen interest.

Former graduates from all parts of the state will assemble at the school for this occasion.

The public is cordially invited to attend the exercises and enjoy the following program:

Organ, Grand Choeur... Jewels
George W. Gerlach.
Invocation.
Violin, The Old Refrain... Kreiser

By Richard L. Turner

Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, May 21.—(AP)—Clarence Darrow hurled more polished epithets at NRA today and announced an intention of submitting another report on the disputed monopolistic and oppressive trends of that agency which he defied its spokesmen to answer.

His three-page statement served to prolong the intense controversy aroused by the findings of the national recovery review board of which he is chairman, that the codes are squeezing out small businessmen and increasing the power of the great industrial combines.

To this Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, and Donald S. Richberg, NRA's general counsel, responded that the Darrow report was intemperate, socialist, propaganda and demanded that the review board be abolished.

Darrow Replies

To the Johnson and Richberg statements, Darrow replied:

"The monopolists and profiteers that were uncovered by the review board's report had their innings today and with their attorney's paid and unpaid, filled the air with their clamors."

"When they pause to take breath and reason has a chance to be heard, it may be well to remind the public of certain basic facts totally and no doubt intentionally, disregarded in these infuriated clamors."

"This board was not created to analyze industries, to devise defenses for NRA nor to weigh the intimacies of factory and corporation management. It was created for two purposes and two only. First, to discover if under the codes monopolistic practices existed; second, to discover if under the codes, small enterprises were oppressed."

"In pursuit of these purposes, I conducted its investigations and reached its conclusions: 1. That in certain industries monopolistic practices existed; 2. That in certain industries small enterprises were oppressed."

Darrow assailed the administration for delaying publication of the review board's report until Johnson and Richberg could prepare replies to accompany it. They, he said, apparently regard NRA as their "personal property" and "break into a cold sweat at the suggestion that operations are not perfect or are susceptible of improvement."

The board's second report, the statement said, would review additional industries in which conditions were "even worse than in those that I have severed Mr. Richberg's vision."

Darrow added:

"When his perturbed soul has regained its calm, if ever, we will venture two suggestions to him. First, it is exceedingly unseemly for a man occupying a public position in this country to assume that the nation is his personal property and any criticism of any national activity is a personal affront."

"There is nothing in democracy that is above criticism, not even NRA, and if there could be democracy would cease to exist. Second, we should advise him to keep together and well in hand his staff of expert evasions. When he comes to read the next report of this board it is likely that he will need more than 157 pages to steer around its contents."

Finally, said Darrow, one question remained to be answered:

"Does the administration wish to be understood as supporting monopolies?"

"The strange course pursued in regard to this report and some of the explosions from the press and Mr. Richberg might justify such a thought. The small enterprises, whose grievous complaints by the thousands are in the files of this board can not look to their government for relief, where shall they turn?"

Meanwhile, it was made quite clear that Johnson's demand for abolition of the board would be granted, though not by summary dismissal of its membership. It was established by executive order to continue until June 1, and white house officials indicated its life would not be prolonged.

The Darrow report had its repercussions in congress, too, with both the independent Republicans and the conservatives of that party finding in its material to their liking.

Representative Britten (R. Ill.) tried to have the report incorporated in the congressional record, but objections from Democrats, Blanton of Texas and O'Connor of New York prevented.

"It is a Democratic report and Democrats object to it," remarked Britten. Senator Borah (R. Ida.) who for months has asserted NRA fostered monopolies said that when he resumed his campaign for reinstatement of the anti-trust laws, he would use his own data and statistics to support his cause.

Chairman Connery of the house labor committee, vigorous proponent of a compulsory 30-hour-week bill said that if his measure had been passed a year ago instead of the NRA, we would have saved the government and business millions of dollars. We would have been out of the woods by now instead of being in hot controversy."

An effort by Connery to force a vote on his bill last week was blocked by administration leaders. Today he filed a new petition intended to bring the measure to the floor for action.

NORMAN THOMAS REFUSED PERMIT TO MAKE SPEECH

Socialist Leader Taken Into Custody At Taylorville

Taylorville, Ill., May 21.—(AP)—While tear gas bombs were thrown, deputy sheriffs this afternoon refused to permit Norman Thomas, socialist leader, to make a speech on the courthouse lawn here.

Thomas was taken into custody and held inside the courthouse for nearly an hour.

Upon his release, the former socialist candidate for president said a protest would be made to Governor Hornor and attorney Otto Kerner.

"I regard this as an arbitrary denial of the right of free speech and am eager to make this a test case about the indiscriminate use of tear gas by irresponsible public officials."

The Rev. Douglas Anderson of Illinois, socialist candidate for congress, was also held temporarily by sheriff's deputies when he tried to address a crowd that did not number more than 300.

Held Incommunicado

Thomas said he and Anderson were held incommunicado in different rooms in the courthouse and that he was not told on what charges he was held.

Upon their release, after the crowd dispersed, the socialist leaders consulted an attorney and said they were considering suit against deputy sheriff J. H. Betterton for assault and possibly for false arrest.

Taylorville officials said permission to hold open air meetings has been refused all applicants during recent months for fear that more trouble would be stirred upon among rival mine factions.

For two years there have been frequent riots, slayings and bombings in the Christian county mine field as a result of the struggle between the Progressive miners of America and the United Mine Workers of America.

Betterton, who stopped Thomas before he could say ten words, is the republican nominee for sheriff of Christian county.

As explained by Thomas, he started to speak about 4:00 P. M. from the east lawn of the courthouse as part of a quick tour he is making in behalf of Anderson's campaign.

I was stopped by this man Betterton, taken inside the courthouse and held incommunicado about 45 minutes," Thomas said.

Mr. Anderson then tried to speak, but tear gas bombs were thrown by Betterton from a second story window, dispersing the crowd temporarily. The crowd was orderly, and soon reformed as the wind blew away the gas fumes.

Anderson started to speak a second time, but was taken into custody by deputy Elmer Deeren. More tear gas bombs were thrown later.

Officials said the men had not been arrested and were released upon their promise not to make any more speeches in Christian county.

Thomas and Anderson were scheduled to speak tonight at Gillespie headquarters. The Progressive union, Tomorrow Thomas is to address a luncheon meeting at Springfield in connection with the convention of the Illinois Bankers Association.

"I want you to know that some of these deputies are ugly customers," Thomas said. "As I make further speeches, I intend to make this man Betterton well known. He shouldn't be allowed to carry a gun."

The socialist leader said the Taylorville visit was part of a three weeks tour he is making.

"Elsewhere we have been having orderly, peaceful meetings and getting courteous receptions," he declared.

"One of those tear gas bombs just missed the head of a small child."

35,000 Minneapolis Building Trade Workers Call Strike in Sympathy With Truck Drivers

ENACTMENT OF HOUSING BILL IS IMPERATIVE

Would Relieve Strain On Homeowners Loan Corporation

Minneapolis, May 21.—(AP)—An army of 35,000 carpenters, bricklayers and other building trades workers tonight began a strike in sympathy with 5,000 truck drivers who have enforced an embargo on commercial truck here since last Tuesday night.

The strike of building workers became effective at 10 P. M. at the close of a day which saw bloody rioting in the city market in which 18 officers and 19 strikers were injured and the beginning of new negotiations by the Regional Labor Board under authority from Washington, and with the power to call in the department of justice to enforce rulings.

The strike was termed a "struggle against the tyranny of the branch banks and the Citizens Alliance" in a statement issued by A. H. Urthoff, president of the Central Building Trades Council, as the strike affecting members of his group began.

"The west hotel meeting Friday a mass meeting of local business men to seek means to break the strike" was convoked and arranged by those banking interests that so outrageously mulcted the public in the sale of branch banking stock, in statement went on.

"A handful of financiers wished to set up a dictatorship of poverty for the workers of the city of Minneapolis and the farmers of the state, x x x it is this dictatorship which precipitated the strike and prevents it from being settled by preventing employers who wish to settle from reaching an accord with the union through their control of credit. It is against this dictatorship that we call upon all farmers and workers to struggle."

Striking truckmen rioted in the city market, where more than two score of their number and policemen reddened pavements with their blood. The strike was marked by the arrest of a Minnesota congressman.

The surging mass of humanity that teemed in the narrow district bristled with riot guns, clubs, sticks, and knives as citizens appealed to the national labor board to interfere.

The appeal for federal intervention was answered almost as soon as it was made when the Regional Labor Board received exclusive authority from Washington to negotiate a settlement. Empowered to ask the department of justice for aid, if its rulings are ignored, the board immediately called in representatives of employers and striking truckers to begin discussion.

Governor Floyd B. Olson, reiterating his appeal for the employers to arbitrate, was represented as seriously considering calling out the National Guard immediately to restore order and supervise distribution of produce to citizens.

Officials said the men had not been arrested and were released upon their promise not to make any more speeches in Christian county.

Thomas and Anderson were scheduled to speak tonight at Gillespie headquarters. The Progressive union, Tomorrow Thomas is to address a luncheon meeting at Springfield in connection with the convention of the Illinois Bankers Association.

"I want you to know that some of these deputies are ugly customers," Thomas said. "As I make further speeches, I intend to make this man Betterton well known. He shouldn't be allowed to carry a gun."

The socialist leader said the Taylorville visit was part of a three weeks tour he is making.

"Elsewhere we have been having orderly, peaceful meetings and getting courteous receptions," he declared.

MAE MURRAY HITS ATTORNEY ON JAW

New York, May 21.—(AP)—Mae Murray of the films lost her suit for $300,000 against Tiffany Productions, Inc. today but consoled herself by striking an attorney on the jaw.

Bertram H. Meyers, attorney for the defendants, became a defendant himself after he whispered to the blonde actress, "now you've got justice" as the action was dismissed.

Tears streaming down her cheeks, Mae Murray placed a resounding slap on Meyers' jaw.

"God will attend to you," she screamed. "You'll get yours."

Her attorney, Harry L. Sitomer, rushed into the breach and prevented further blows.

Miss Murray alleged the company told her pictures she made on a percentage basis between 1921 and 1924 had been a financial failure and she settled for $12,000. Later, she charged, she learned the films had netted more than $1,000,000.

ENACTMENT OF HOUSING BILL IS IMPERATIVE

Would Relieve Strain On Homeowners Loan Corporation

Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, May 21.—(AP)—Testimony that enactment of the administration's housing bill was imperative to ease the "strain" on the Home Owners' Loan Corporation was counteracted today with the assertion measure would mean "ruin" for many building and loan associations.

In asking the Senate banking committee to approve the legislation, John H. Fahey, chairman of the Loan Corporation, told of the flood of applications received from distressed home owners.

He was followed by Harry E. Karr, counsel for the Real Estate Board of Baltimore, who objected particularly to the provisions which would authorize formation of National Mortgage Associations. He said private agencies were in no position to compete with them.

Many Applications.
Fahey said up to May 11 his corporation had received 1,343,194 applications for aid from mortgage-burdened home owners and that the total amount represented by these pleas was $4,306,684,929, or a sum more than double the $2,000,000,000 voted by Congress for home mortgage relief.

Fahey said about 66,000 applications had been rejected and that 32,017 were withdrawn. The loans closed up to May 11 he said represented $681,032,741.

"That leaves you about 1,000,000 applications to act on?" Chairman Fletcher (D., Fla.) asked.

The corporation chairman nodded agreement.

Karr said the National Mortgage Associations' proposed by the bill would pay no taxes "even though they are organized for profit" and "that no building and loan associations would be able to compete with them."

He opposed also the insurance provisions of the administration bill and said the additional levies on building and loan associations "would mean liquidation of the majority of our (Baltimore) concerns."

Administration experts who helped draft the bill have testified that the mortgage associations were not to compete with existing building and loan agencies but were to supplement their efforts.

The Chicago Fire

"Thank God for Lake Michigan!" We're going to need it before this is over! was the remark of one Chicago fireman as he fought the terrific conflagration that threatened that city Saturday afternoon and night. He doubtless expressed the thought of thousands of Chicago citizens as they watched 145 pieces of fire apparatus pour billions of gallons of water into the seething flames. Recently Chicago has complained of a low water supply on account of the drought; but she had enough to stop a conflagration that would have surpassed the fire of 1871 if it had gotten out of bounds.

As it was thirteen major buildings and more than 75 minor structures and homes, hundreds of head of live stock, many valuable records and some of the city's valued landmarks were destroyed by a blaze that ravaged 42 square blocks in the stockyards district. Two thousand firemen battled the flames. Thirty out-of-town fire companies rushed to the help of the city organization.

To fire experts of Chicago the splendid work of the fire-fighters proved that the city is safe, and that it will never again have a repetition of the 1871 disaster. But it also made them aware that the present period of intense heat and dryness carries extreme danger.

The blaze spread like lightning among the stock pens and into the buildings. Fire will do that anywhere at such a time as this, and it behooves all citizens of Jacksonville, as well as Chicago, to use caution in handling fire. A stable blaze in this city right now would make a bigger hole in the water supply proportionately than did the fire in Chicago.

New Animals

The management of the London Zoo is wondering how to raise a baby binturong, an animal rarely born in captivity. So little is known of this creature that science has given it a genus all by itself; it belongs to the civet family. We suggest to the London animal experts that they let the mother binturong raise the baby and quit worrying about it. She knows how to raise the youngster in the way that a binturong should go, and not being familiar with the ways of binturongs, we would be willing to let Mrs. Binturong solve the family problems.

A cargo of rare birds and reptiles was received this week for Yale and Harvard universities. There is a constant stream of new animals into the zoo, and as the care of these animals becomes more scientific, the population is also increased by births of animals in captivity. Zoos are being made more and more like the natural habitat of the animals they contain.

It is now possible to supply the market for some animals almost wholly from domestic farms. There is one lion farm in California with 400 specimens, and other of the better known wild animals are reared in captivity in similar numbers. It has been found that wild animals, protected from the hazards of their natural habitat, may increase more rapidly in numbers in captivity.

The seals of the Pacific ocean, protected by the United States, have greatly increased in numbers. The deer and the buffalo are coming back under protection. It stands to reason that any animal will respond to protective treatment.

Seeking the Saar

On the border between France and Germany, adjacent to Alsace-Lorraine is a little section of land filled with rich stores of coal. It is the Saar now in possession of France but within a few months to be the scene of a plebiscite to determine its future destiny. Already both countries are beginning to campaign among the people for support.

The Saar was handed to France by the treaty of Versailles, in order that it might help pay a portion of Germany's immense indemnity, and make up for mines destroyed during the war in northern France. The Saar has an area of 780 square miles, not so large as any one of several Illinois counties. It has a dense population of 618,000. It has 31 mines, employing 67,000 men and from the Saar there is annually mined 13,000,000 tons of coal, 1,700,000 tons of pig iron and 1,100,000 tons of steel.

In the United States such regions are plentiful, though perhaps not so small in area. But in Europe, the Saar looms large in the resources of a country which might have possession of it. Next January its people will be asked to determine whether they want union with France or with Germany. If they vote German, then Germany must pay France an amount to be determined to secure final disposition of the territory. With German Nazis in their presence, ent mood and France inflamed by suspicion and fear the election in the Saar may not be as peaceful as it should. That little section of country holds enough political dynamite to blow Europe into another destructive struggle. It would be strange if the liberal ideal of self-determination, injected into the Versailles treaty to permit plebiscites, should be the cause of another war. It would be strange and very tragic.

The Northeast Passage

Some three centuries and more ago Henry Hudson sought a "northwest passage" by which the nations of Europe hoped to reach India and tap the rich resources of the far east. About 1608 Capt. John Smith sailed up the James river with the hope of finding a passage across the American continent to India. He got himself captured by Indians and saved by Pocahontas.

Now the Russian government is planning to open a "northeast passage" from Leningrad to Vladivostok, literally sailing around the northern shore of the continents of Europe and Asia. The new seaway will be kept open by icebreakers, keeping in touch with shore and marine radio stations. It will be a difficult job, but it promises to be successful.

Such a route is perilous. It has been navigated, but only in the most favorable seasons of the year. Whether it will prove commercially profitable remains to be seen. The attempt illustrates the continued quest of man for opening up new fields of exploration, carving out new channels of progress, and finding new places for commerce and profit.

Many such ventures have failed because of the explorers' ignorance of the difficulties to be overcome. Neither Hudson or Smith knew what lay ahead of them. But modern scientific knowledge has obviated much of the risk in pioneering as the Byrd expedition to the South Pole readily shows. No doubt the Russians will make the Northeast Passage pay.

Spurring Building Industry

(Bloomington Post-Tribune)
President Roosevelt's recent message to congress urging that steps be taken to encourage private capital and credit to undertake a nation-wide program for building better homes in America, is founded on understanding of the real needs of better housing. According to the research department of the NRA an annual building volume of 800,000 residential units is required to supply the need for new dwellings. This takes no account of replacement of existing sub-standard homes, and until these are replaced the needed volume could easily be at the rate of two million structures a year.

A building revival could fall far below these high limits and still be the most powerful of factors in fighting depression. No dollar we spend does more work in stimulating domestic trade and providing employment, than does the building dollar. Surveys show that 37.3 per cent of all the money spent goes to labor at the site—to excavators, graders, carpenters, masons, plumbers, plasterers, etc. The balance of 62.7 per cent goes to buy needed materials and supplies—and the great bulk of that is paid to workers in the plant and factories manufacturing them. In general, about 80 cents out of each dollar goes to labor, directly or indirectly.

The heavy industries—those supplying such manufacturers as steel, lumber, cement—were hit hardest by hard times. They are facing the gravest difficulties in recovering from them. Spurring construction would do much to solve a legion of our most troublesome problems.

New Capital Issues

One of the objections to the Securities Act of 1933 has been based on the absence of new capital issues. It was said that new flotations in any large amount were impossible under the restrictions of the act. Modification of the law has been vigorously urged.

The federal trade commission reports that registration statements for new issues involving $115,568,625 became effective in April, a new high mark since the act was adopted, both in the number of statements and the value of the securities. These figures were exclusive of reorganization issues and certificates of deposit.

In March there were 23 effective statements with a total value of $24,129,977.

The conclusion which the commission draws from the sharp rise in April issues is that the severity of the law was not such a deterrent as it was said to be. In spite of its restrictions, the commission holds, the capital markets will open up as requirements for new capital become more pressing. If that is so, the advocates of the securities act who have seen in it a needed safeguard against abuses of the past, will be vindicated.

The New Deal in Washington

Johnson and Richberg See NRA as Permanent Plan...
Prosecuted Tailor Is Won Over to Code... Huddles Are Feature of Ocean Mail Quiz... Bruce May Oppose Bruce for Senate Seat.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington, May 21.—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson and Don Richberg are almost as confused about the future of NRA as are all the rest of us.

They do think it's going to be a permanent part of the American scheme. They think they're drawing out of the experimental stage into a routine phase where consistent policies can be maintained and that they now have a fair idea as to what things can be entrusted to code authorities with reasonable assurance that they will not take advantage of labor and the consumers.

But in virtually every attempt to achieve a more workable, fairer set-up, they encounter terrific pressures—and often those pressures come from half a dozen directions.

Both bosses of NRA are convinced they can never get far without public support, but where the preponderance of that support lies is often impossible to determine.

The present effort to shunt aside the minor codes—conspicuous among them those of the tailors and cleaners—is an example. It seemed like a swell idea, since industries and codes affecting less than 15 per cent of the recovery program were using up 85 per cent of NRA effort and funds.

The thousands of telegrams of protest promptly received caused Johnson and Richberg, behind closed doors, to throw up their hands.

Administration of these codes is sure to be decentralized, but the pressure is modifying original plans. Confronted with the fact that NRA has employed no more than a fourth of the unemployed army of a year ago, the NRA leaders are fearful of putting further stresses and strains on industry at this time by pressure for shorter hours.

The cotton textile industry, for instance, must cut production to avoid a glut. Labor demands that hours in the industry be shortened—with no decrease in weekly wages. Increased wages would mean increased prices—on goods the prices of which already cause complaint—in face of a declining market.

Pressure from industry is far stronger than that from any other direction and NRA seeks a breathing spell in which it can check what it has done to date.

In that period, Johnson and Richberg would like to weed out code provisions allowing price fixing and monopolistic practices, getting as near as possible to provisions which merely prevent below-cost selling and other practices which result in insolvency or the ruination of competitors.

But the shrieks of industries when their special favors are threatened indicate plainly the job NRA faces—even if it can focus attention on that phase alone.

Converted to Code

Incidentally, that little tailor in New Jersey who became a national figure when he was convicted and nearly imprisoned for pressing pants at a nickel below the code price has telegraphed his protest against abandonment of the code.

No one here knows who converted him, but his wife is something like this: "I am the tailor who was prosecuted. It is not true that I am against the code. I think it is a very fine code."

Huddle Out of Fuddle

Tall, bald, florid President P. A. S. Franklin of International Mercantile Marine must once have been captain of a football team. The way his colleagues and advisers went into huddles with him before he answered some of the questions Senator Hugo Black flung on the resumption of the ocean mail contract inquiry made onlookers wonder where they had left their uniforms.

There were about ten of them, including Kermit Roosevelt and Franklin's son John—all officers, directors, attorneys and employees.

Among them, they got all the questions answered.

Bruce May Race Bruce

The Maryland senatorial primary is likely to be a case of Bruce vs. Bruce. Former Senator William Cabell Bruce, defeated by Senator Goldsborough in 1928, has been thinking very seriously of entering for the Democratic nomination.

His nephew, National Committeeman Howard Bruce, has also been considering the matter. He is closely allied with Governor Ritchie, who is running for a fifth term, and many of the Ritchie faction want him to run on a "Ritchie ticket."

Uncle William, however, insists that his nephew wouldn't get into the race should be become a candidate.

SEVEN FREIGHT CARS ON WABASH DERAILED

Griggsville, May 21.—A coal shed was pushed from its foundations and the platform of the passenger depot was torn up when seven cars of an east-bound Wabash freight train were derailed here between 7 and 8 o'clock Sunday morning.

The train was uncoupled in several places and cars were scattered along the track for half a mile. A wrecking crew from Hannibal, Mo., repaired the damage and traffic was restored at noon. Neither the engine nor the caboose left the rails and no one was injured.

350 Tickets Bought for Alumni Banquet

White Hall, May 21.—Three hundred and fifty tickets have been sold for the White Hall high school alumni banquet which will be held Friday evening, May 25. This is the largest number of tickets ever sold for a like affair. The limit was first placed at three hundred and then raised to three hundred and fifty and many have been unable to secure tickets.

The banquet will be served in the High school gymnasium by the ladies of the First Baptist church, and will be followed by a novelty program and dance. Grover Nash is president, Ernest Roodhouse is vice president, Rollin Day is treasurer, Mary Ellen Pennell, recording secretary and Leith Lorene Watt is corresponding secretary.

The class of 1934 with seventy-seven members is also the largest class to graduate from the school.

Class Surprises Teacher

Mrs. Thomas Hearn's class of boys from the First Baptist church gave her a surprise party complimenting her on her birthday. The boys brought their girl friends and a pot luck supper and when they arrived they found their teacher visiting across the street with a neighbor. A very enjoyable evening was spent.

The 4-19 class of the First Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Harry Watt on Carrollton street. Mrs. Watt was assisted by the president of the class, Miss Emma Thuet, who also led the devotionals and conducted the business session which took up most of the evening.

The Helping Hand class of the Methodist Sunday school gave a musical party for Miss Ruth Moon, who is to wed Edwin Lowenstein, at the Methodist parsonage Thursday evening and presented Miss Moon with a cream and sugar set and a sandwich tray. She also was presented a corsage bouquet of old-fashioned pinks tied with satin ribbon. The table appointments were in pink. Games and a refreshment course provided entertainment.

RETURN FROM EAST

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Main have returned from a ten-day motor trip thru the east. They visited several days at Pittsburgh, and then went to Washington, where they spent the remainder of their time seeing historic places.

WILL ROGERS says:

To the Editor of The Journal-Courier:
Salinas, Calif., May 21.—I read statistics every once in awhile and it shows maby how church attendance is sorer falling off on Sunday mornings, but its not a lack of religious inclination, its just that you cant beat Sunday morning to get the old car out and gamble. A preacher can have the best sermon in the world, but he just has to deliver it to folks without any gas, I bet you we live to see the time when they will just hold services on rainy days, and days when they are fixing the roads, and they will pack em in, folks are just as good as they ever were, and they mean well, but no minister can move em like a second hand car.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

ROODHOUSE WOMAN IN HOSPITAL HERE WITH LEG BROKEN IN FALL

Mrs. Lena Gerbing of Roodhouse was brought to Passavant hospital Sunday morning, suffering from a fracture of the left leg slightly below the hip. She slipped and fell while in a meat market at Roodhouse.

She was brought to the hospital here in the Reeve ambulance and was given surgical attention by Dr. F. A. Norris. Owing to the seriousness of the injury, she will be confined to the hospital for sometime.

Mrs. Roy Jackson, residing on Jacksonville Rural Route 5, is a patient at Passavant hospital to undergo treatment.

CHARITY TEMPLE TO HONOR PAST CHIEFS

Past Chiefs Night will be observed Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of Charity Temple No. 30, Pythian Sisters at Castle Hall. The past chiefs of the temple will be present and will take part in the program. There will also be a rehearsal of those who will take part in the convention to be held at Roodhouse the last of this month.

Murrayville was represented here yesterday by Mrs. John Ober.

NEIGHBORS PUT IN CROP OF BEANS FOR GREENE COUNTY MAN

White Hall, May 21.—Fifty-nine neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Robert Hart in Birch Creek neighborhood, eight miles east of White Hall on May 18th with four tractors and thirty-four horses, and during the day planted fifteen acres of beans and corn. A wonderful dinner was served by the ladies at noon.

Mr. Hart recently underwent a major operation at the White Hall hospital and being unable to do the work. These excellent neighbors turned out in force and did it for him. Mr. and Mrs. Hart wish to sincerely thank all who so willingly tendered their services.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schafer, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sorrels and son; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey

Casteel and family; Mr. and Mrs. Emery Hart and family; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hutton and family; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Strawmatt and family; Tommy Dickerson, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Pembroke and family; Mr. and Mrs. Reid Ash and family; Tom Armstrong, Raymond, Orville and Kenneth Cummins, Chester Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hutton and children; Henry Hart, Bill Allen, Keith Hart, June Schafer and son, Velma and Lura Bell Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Hart, Harold Smith, Mrs. B. Shaw and daughter.

Virginia visitors here yesterday included Mrs. C. W. Thompson.

David C. McClelland Wins School Honors

Middletown, Conn., May 21.—David C. McClelland, outstanding student at the Jacksonville High school and the second ranking boy in the graduating class, has been appointed as one of the two alternates for the Olin Scholarship awards at Wesleyan University. It was announced by University officials today. The scholarships, carrying an annual grant of five hundred dollars for each year of the student's undergraduate study, are given to the men who display the most promising traits of character, leadership and scholarship as evidenced by examination and interviews with the awarding committee. Mr. McClelland was one of eight chosen from a group of over sixty high and preparatory school boys recommended by Wesleyan alumni throughout the country.

The Olin scholarships established a few years ago in the nature of a bequest to the college through the death of Stephen Olin, a distinguished alumnus and one time acting president of the college, are awarded annually at this time of year to the six applicants who are judged most worthy from leading high schools and preparatory schools throughout the country and who appear most to fill out the qualifications of scholarship, character, leadership, achievement and all-around ability after the fashion of the famous Rhodes scholars. Awards in previous years have gone to graduates of such well-known institutions as Phillips-Exeter, Phillips Andover Academy, Mount Hermon School, Wilbraham School, Merensberg, The Hill School, the Lawrenceville School, and others. Besides being the second ranking boy in his class, Mr. McClelland has taken a leading part in dramatics, has been a member of the tennis squad, and has made the enviable record of completing his preparatory course in 3½ years.

CHANGE DATE OF MEETING
The Jacksonville Modern Poetry Group will meet on Friday, June 1, at 2:45 o'clock, instead of Friday, May 22, as announced. The meeting will be held at the home of Miss Mabel Goltz, 1545 Mound avenue. Mrs. David P. Hueston will be the program.

Other News Notes of Interest From Carrollton And Vicinity

Carrollton, May 21.—Reuben S. Ebert, a former superintendent of the Carrollton High and Grade school, has accepted appointment as mathematical and education instructor in the New York State Teachers College, Buffalo, N. Y. Since leaving this city Mr. and Mrs. Ebert have both been teaching at Bronxville, N. Y., a suburb of New York City, and during the past two years Mr. Ebert has also been working out his Ph. D. degree at Teachers college, Columbia University, New York City.

Paper to Mark Founding
Editor Charles Bradshaw announced last week that his weekly newspaper, "The Carrollton Patriot," will celebrate its seventeenth birthday anniversary, this week. A review issue of the past 70 years in Carrollton will be published next Thursday.

News Notes
The Holy Name Society of St. John's Catholic Church approached Holy communion in a body at the church at the 7:30 a. m. Mass Sunday, about 120 members were present. Rev. Thomas Costello, pastor offered special prayers, asking God to end the drought, which is threatening to destroy the crops of this section. He announced that Wednesday, Friday and Saturday of this week are Ember days, days of fasting and abstinence.

The Baptist Friendly Bible class had a series of events at its May meeting held Thursday, at the church. The new officers were installed in their seats in a floral corner. A mock wedding in which the principals were tots of from 2 to 4 years, was a cute stunt. The bride was Mary Ellen Hubbard and the groom Tale Staples. They were attended by Virginia Dowdall and Dale Staples, little Roberta Williams was ring bearer and Martha Dell Bishop performed the ceremony. Mrs. Bradshaw, class teacher was presented a basket pattern quilt each block being autographed with the name of a class member, this present was made as a birthday remembrance. A shower was given for Mrs. Wm. Cross a recent bride. Refreshments followed.

MacMurray Alumnae

To Entertain Seniors.

Quincy, May 21.—Senior girls of college preparatory department of Quincy High school, will be entertained at a garden party at the Women's City club, Saturday afternoon, May 26, by the MacMurray College Alumnae association. The hours will be from 3 to 5 o'clock. Invitations have been sent to the honored guests, and any alumnae of the college who will be able to attend are asked to send their reservations to the committee in charge, Mrs. Frank Bennett, Miss Louise Harris and Miss Esther Taylor.

Mrs. Ralph Thesen, president of the Alumnae association, expects Miss Bertha Swenningen, the college representative, to be present and to give a talk. Miss Betty Ann Brown, of Quincy, president of the Senior class at the college, and a group of her classmates will motor over from Jacksonville to attend the affair.

Senior Girls of I. C.

At May Breakfast.

Senior girls of Illinois College were entertained Sunday morning at the annual May Breakfast by Dean Clara Williams at the Colonial Inn. Miss Williams sponsored a "transportation party" and southern breakfast, the latter consisting of fried chicken and hot biscuits as a feature.

Miniature airplanes hovered over the table which was set for nineteen persons. Around a centerpiece of large red poppies with a border of white peonies, were placed miniatures of all different types of conveyances from boats to the old-fashioned coaches, automobiles and airplanes. Pine cards were in the form of tiny automobiles.

During the breakfast Miss Elizabeth Martin gave a number of piano selections, and Miss Mary Louise Taylor sang a group of songs. Roses were presented to the guests as favors.

Those present were Mrs. H. C. Jaquith, the Misses Helen Sturdy, Helen Hills, Louise Boring, Helen Bosch, Margaret Caldwell, Beatrice Hayes, Geraldine Hunter, Bernice Bailey, Faye Mahoney, Frances Craig, Florence Wylder, Helen Chanahan, Charlotte Sager, Esther Millon, Virginia Sibley, Marie Mosby and Mary Simons.

Fidels Class of Centenary

Church Have Meeting

The members of the Fidelis class of the Centenary church had their May party last night, at the home of Mrs. T. H. Rapp and Mrs. George Fuhr, 303 S. East street. Mrs. T. B. Reeve was in charge of the program and the hostesses were Miss Mittie Godfrey, chairman, Mrs. Emma Fenstermaker, Mrs. Lena Francis and Mrs. George Fuhr.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Challans

Entertain Centerville Club

The Centerville 4-H club held its regular meeting Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Challans. The roll-call response showed eighteen members present.

An interesting program was given which included the following numbers, given by several members: Eileen Stilwell gave a short talk upon the topic, "Choosing Different Kinds of Material." Lowell Delong spoke on the

Heinl's Greenhouses

Open Evenings.

Today's Pattern

Joe Boyd

Aunt Mary—

Should you be looking for slim lines—make this look—for it will prove to be becoming—Cotton or silk crepe are most appropriate—

Easy To Make

Pattern 254

If it's a frock with slenderizing lines you want, here's your model! And becoming it is, too, in printed silk. Designed for sizes 36 to 52, size 46 requires 4 3/4 yards of 39 inch fabric, or 4 1/4 yards plus 1-2 yard contrast.

To secure a PATTERN and simple sewing chart of this model, tear out this sketch and mail it to JULIA BOYD, 108 PARK AVENUE, NEW YORK, N. Y., together with 15 CENTS IN COIN. Be sure to enclose, on a separate sheet of paper, YOUR NAME, FULL ADDRESS, YOUR SIZE, THE NUMBER OF THIS PATTERN (No. 254), and mention the NAME OF THIS NEWSPAPER.

Address your envelope to Julia Boyd Bureau, 108 Park Avenue, New York, Jacksonville Journal-Courier Fashion City, N. Y.

subject, "How to Choose a Harrow." Miss Arnetta Chailans sang a group of two songs—"Let the Rest of the World Go By" and "The Little Church in the Valley." At the close of the program dainty refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served. The next meeting will be held with Eileen Stilwell, June 1st.

FULL STEIN BEER

Chicago, May 21.—City Sealer

Joe Grein ordered a full stein of beer for every tipping Chicagoan today.

But the official wasn't buying the drinks. They will be on the house.

Declaring some taverns which served false bottomed beer were robbing

the customers of five ounces of brew on every round, he said he would prosecute any inn keeper whose tankards

did not contain the number of ounces stamped on the bottom of the steins.

The Inn Keepers Association voted approval of the move.

IN JUSTICE COURT

Wheat Prospect and Surplus Subnormal

Although it is anticipated that the 1934 wheat crop in Illinois may be larger than the unusually small crop of last year, it is likely to be some 2,000,000 bushels less than the five-year average production of the state, according to available reports reviewed by R. C. Ross, assistant chief of farm management at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. The total 1934 wheat yield in Illinois has been estimated at 29,801,000 bushels, as compared with 26,592,000 bushels in 1933 and 31,611,000 bushels as the average during the five years of 1927-1931. The increased wheat the result of the large amount of acreage planted last fall was probably corn land that remained idle last summer. Rather than lose the time and labor they had spent in preparing the ground for corn, farmers planted the fallow acres to wheat, in the opinion of Ross.

Wheat stocks on Illinois farms as of April 1 amounted to 3,839,000 bushels, or the smallest carryover since 1931. Last year at this time wheat stored on Illinois farms totaled 5,745,000 bushels.

Current reports on the world wheat prospects indicate the carryover of wheat on July 1 in the four principal exporting countries will be at least 100,000,000 bushels less than on July 1 of last year.

Like that of Illinois, the North American wheat crop is expected to be considerably larger this year than last, because of the exceptionally bad growing conditions of last year, but the European crop may be considerably smaller. Dry weather in the lower Danube basin has damaged late-sown grains, and early-sown fields may have yields reduced even though the moisture has been sufficient for a favorable early development of the crop.

The condition of winter wheat in the remainder of Europe is reported as being generally good except in season condition of the crop in the Italy and Spain. However, the early-moist humid parts of Europe has not proved to be a good indication of subsequent yield. It is not likely that the high average yield of last year will be repeated in 1934.

May 30 Last Day to File CWA Claims

The Morgan county office of the Civil Works Administration has received word that May 30 has been set as the deadline beyond which no further claims will be received.

"If a claim has not been made through the Board of Claims prior to that time, it will be necessary in order to get reimbursement for a worthy claim to take it up with Washington," Kenneth Stapleton, local CWA administrator, said today.

Mr. Stapleton said the local organization is anxious to get in touch with anyone having a claim against the Civil Works Administration in Morgan county and to have the claims filed before that date.

The functions of the CWA in this county have been gradually merged with the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. All of the projects originally started by the CWA are now in charge of the relief organization.

During the last year the CWA paid $121,000 in wages in Morgan county, and other large sums for materials.

Mrs. Joe Detner of Chapin was shopping in the city yesterday.

Meredosia Men Hurt in Collision Early Sunday Near Bluffs

William Dickman of Meredosia was seriously injured and his companion, Raymond Wheelock, also of Meredosia, received a slight cut shortly after midnight Sunday when the car in which they were riding collided with another machine on the hard road four miles south of Bluffs. Both were brought to Passavant hospital in the Danner ambulance from Winchester, arriving at 1:35 o'clock Sunday morning.

Dickman sustained a fracture of the left leg and also of the right collar bone. He suffered burns on the legs, arms and face, apparently from being drug along the pavement for some distance. Dickman was thrown from the car which overturned and pinned him beneath it.

The car in which the Meredosia men were riding was driven by Wheelock. Two other cars came over a hill and one of them, said to have been driven by Louis Tribble of this city, came into collision with the Wheelock car. Tribble was accompanied by three other men; the occupants of his car were not injured, but were severely shaken up.

Dickman remains in the hospital, but Wheelock, who had only a cut on the finger, was able to return to his home. Dr. Ellsworth Black gave medical attention.

Urbana, Ill., May 21.—Although it has been known that the number of work animals on farms in the United States has been declining as much as 358,000 horses and mules in a single year, the scarcity of good work stock in Illinois is even more pronounced than generally realized, according to C. W. Crawford, associate in animal husbandry at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

The number of horses, mules and colts on farms in this state as of January 1 of this year totaled approximately 849,000 as compared with 888,000 on the same date in 1933, or a decline of 19,000 head in the twelve months. The population of horses, mules and colts in Illinois in 1930 numbered 966,000. In 1925 it was 1,196,000, and in 1920 totaled 1,465,000.

Farmers have sold down to their minimum needs and will seldom price a horse for sale, says Crawford, following a trip through central Illinois at which time he made a survey of the available supply.

"There are a few teams of 3-year-olds which can be bought and a few big teams of rather plain order," he explains. "Of course, after the crops are in, there will be some horses which can be spared."

"Quite a few farmers are in need of more horses and are in the market for teams of mares. Of late, farmers' ideas have changed radically in respect to the age of horses. They now insist upon buying young animals, and there are indications of a return of greater pride in horses and better care given them."

Grace Church Doings

The Quincey school made a mighty effort on Sunday and secured 50 points, while Springfield and Jacksonville only were able to muster 20 points each. The standing of the schools up-to-date are as follows: Springfield 170; Quincey 200 and Jacksonville 230. Next Sunday will be Sunday school day in Grace church and a real effort will be made to score points on church attendance at least once during the contest, which closes with the first Sunday in June. Grace school had 85% of an attendance of 442 on time, but Quincey reported 86% on time.

The Quarterly communion service was observed at the morning worship hour under the direction of the pastor, assisted by six ministers of the congregation. In the evening a very pleasing program was put on by the Goodhouse Girls' Chorus under the direction of Miss Virginia Merrill. Dr. Havighurst delivered a fifteen minute address upon the subject: "The Young Man Who Was a Great Hearted Friend." During the services of the day three new members were received by transfer.

The College League met at the usual hour.

The Second Auxiliary of the Women's Home Missionary Society will hold an open meeting Monday evening at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. F. H. Rose. Miss Mildred George will be program leader.

The prayer service on Wednesday evening will consider the special subject "Teaching Concerning the Christian Life." The discussions are very interesting and profitable and all are invited.

Col. J. J. Bernholt of Alton Among Oldest I.C. Graduates, Dies

Alton, Ill., May 21.—(P)—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for Col. John J. Bernholt, 90, former Alton mayor and president pro tem of the state senate, who died at his home Sunday following an illness of a month.

Col. Bernholt was elected mayor of Alton in 1893. Five years later he was elected to the state senate and served as president pro tem during his four years' term. In 1902 he made an unsuccessful race for congress.

He was educated at the Illinois College in Jacksonville, Ill., and at Albany, N. Y.

Surviving are a daughter and one son, John J. Bernholt, Jr., also a former Alton mayor.

Col. Bernholt graduated from Illinois College with the class of 1865. He entered college in 1860 and returned again in 1862. He was a member of Phi Alpha society. He was commissioned a colonel on the staff of Gen. Cullum. Col. Bernholt was married to Miss Elisabeth Eldredge.

FIVE GRADUATES AT LITERBERRY TUESDAY

Commencement exercises for the 1934 graduates of the two-year high school at Literberry will be held at the school building at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. Dr. F. A. Havighurst of Grace M. E. church will deliver the commencement address. Members of the class will present a program of music and readings.

E. C. Castel is principal of the school. Members of the graduating class include: Eleanor Crum, Velma Edwards, Clarice Decker, Amos Western and Paul Mallicoat.

What SHE TOLD WORN-OUT HUSBAND

SHE could have reproached him for his fits of temper—his "all in" complaints. But wisely she saw in his frequent colds, his "lagged out," "on edge" condition the very trouble she herself had whipped. Constipation! The very morning after taking N-R (Nature's Remedy), as she advised, he felt like himself again—keenly alert, peppy, cheerful. N-R—the safe, dependable, all-vegetable laxative and corrective—worked gently, thoroughly, naturally. It stimulates the eliminative tract to come to regular functioning. Non-habit-forming. No "ir. a. b. o."—at a drugstore.

Shovel Breaks Main Causing Water Leak

Employees of the city water department had a big week-end job handed them Saturday when the gasoline shovel tearing up the South Main street pavement reached the brook bridge. The shovel accidentally hooked under the bell on a joint of the city's ten inch water main and tore a hole in the pipe about eight inches long. Water from the high pressure main shot many feet into the air and a huge stream poured from the broken pipe and ran away in the brook.

An alarm was sent at once to the water department and Supt. A. C. Jantzen sent every available man to the job. The force acted promptly and shut the water off on Franklin street and a portion of South Main, stopping the flow. Plant Superintendent George Stoldt noted the decline in pressure at the pumping station when the water started escaping thru the big leak.

Supt. Jantzen and his men worked from 11 o'clock Saturday morning, starting within twenty minutes after the accident occurred, until 4 o'clock Sunday morning to repair the damage. The pipe is one of the city's high-pressure mains and is on a direct line with the pumping plant. It was broken where it runs across the brook in the bridge arch, and it was necessary to chisel out several sections of concrete. An entire new section of pipe was put in, and the portion of the old section not broken was found to be badly rusted.

Altho the huge stream of water did not flow long, the city lost several thousand gallons of a supply that is now most precious, on account of the drought. Prompt action on the part of the water department force prevented greater loss.

MORE BLIND BOYS MAKE TRIP OVER LINCOLN TRAIL

Giants are Forced to Use Recruit Pitcher But Take Game From Cardinals 5-2

ATHLETICS BEAT BROWNS 7 TO 3

St. Louis, May 21.—(P)—The world champion Giants survived another pitching emergency today and checked the onrushing St. Louis Cardinals with a 5-2 victory at the expense of "Wild Bill" Hallahan.

An accident to fat Freddy Fitzsimmons, who was struck in the side by a loose bat just as he started to warm up, forced Manager Bill Terry to put the pitching burden up to the recruit, Joe Bowman. After being hit for a home run by Burgess Whitehead, the latter pitched himself out of subsequent danger and finished strongly with the aid of brisk defense.

The Giants tied the score on Travis Jackson's home run against the upper right field stands, with Homer Peel on Cramer, in the fourth, Terry's Texas League single to left, which Joe Medwick mishandled, enabled Joe Moore to race home with the winning run from first in the fifth inning.

Fitzsimmons, after being hit by a bat that escaped from Jim Mooney's hands, was examined in the clubhouse and found not seriously hurt.

TIGERS WAYLAY

SENATORS 6 TO 5

Detroit, May 21.—(P)—The Detroit Tigers took advantage of Washington errors today to defeat the Senators, 6 to 5, and square the current series.

The Tigers clinched the game in the ninth when Walker singled off Prim who tossed the ball to the pavilion while the runner advanced to third.

Gehring and Rogel were purposely passed to fill the bases and then McGinnis took over the Washington pitching. The first man to face him was Manager Cochrane, batting for Hayworth, and he singled over Schulte's head to bring in the winning run.

INDIANS WHIP

YANKEES 9-5

Cleveland, May 21.—(P)—Paced by Earl Averill's two home runs, his fourth and fifth of the season, the Cleveland Indians won their second straight game at the expense of the New York Yankees today, 9 to 5.

George Uhle, once ace pitcher of the Indians, was the victim of Cleveland's first and second inning onslaught that netted five runs. The Tribe fell on the 36-year-old right hander for three runs in the first inning, Averill's first home run sending the trio of tallies across the plate.

They drove their former teammate to cover in second, when they counted two more times.

DODGERS DOWN BROWNS 10 TO 9

Brooklyn, May 21.—(P)—A three-run rally after two were out in the ninth inning gave the Chicago Cubs a 10 to 9 decision over the Brooklyn Dodgers today in a game lasting three hours and 20 minutes.

Nine pitchers, five of them Chicago moundsmen, were used in the slugfest battle that saw the Cubs get 16 hits and the Dodgers eight, three of them home runs. Gordon Phelps, batting for Jim Weaver, also cracked out a circuit drive in the ninth to tie the score and Chuck Klein came through with a single to give the Cubs victory.

The Dodgers came from behind to tie the score four times and finally went out in front with a four-run attack in the eighth, only to have the Cubs come back with their three-run rally. Taylor, Lopez and Koencke hit home runs for the Dodgers.

MAC'S CLOTHIERS

WIN DOUBLE BILL;

DOWNS BLUFFS 7-6

Beardstown, May 21.—(Special)—The Mac's Clothiers won both games of a double-header Sunday, taking the Italian-American team of Springfield into camp here yesterday afternoon to the tune of 13 to 7, while the second team traveled to Bluffs to win a nip and tuck game by a score of 7 to 6 in 12 innings behind the fine pitching of Oscar Traut, one of the Clothiers regular twirlers. The game with the Italian-Americans was a walk-away for the home club making fourteen runs off 14 hits, while taking advantage of half a dozen errors by the visitors. Stocker led the attack with three singles out of four trips to the plate, while Thomas and Edwards banged out three out of five. Besides going on a hitting rampage, the local team played errorless ball, and scored enough runs in the second inning to win the game, when eight men crossed the plate.

The game at Bluffs was considered an upset, for the local team was made up of subs, with the exception of Traut, regular pitcher. The Bluffs outfit reconsidered their plan to drop out of the league late Saturday afternoon, so Manager Campbell decided to play his regulars against the Springfield outfit, and sent his second team to play at Bluffs. The game was a battle all the way through, with Traut and his fine support emerging victorious after twelve innings of tight ball playing.

The box score of the Italian-Americans—Clothier's game is as follows:

PIRATES SMOTHER

PHILLIES 11-4

Philadelphia, May 21.—(P)—Pittsburgh pounded Pearce and A. Moore for 17 hits today, defeating the Phillies, 11 to 4, in the second game of the series.

Vaughan led the attack for the Pirates with four hits, including a double and a home run. Lavagetto was not far behind with three hits—a brace of two baggers and a home run. He drove in five Pirate runs.

Attempting a double play in the eighth, Vaughan hit Dick Bartell on the head with the ball and the shortstop was knocked unconscious. He quickly recovered but was forced to leave the game.

Red Sox Score Three Runs In Tenth Inning and Take Game From Pale Hose 13-10

THE STANDINGS

Chicago, May 21.—(P)—The Boston Red Sox took a ten inning game from the White Sox, 13 to 10, today, after manager Jimmie Dykes tied the score at 10-10 for the home club with a home run with the bases filled in the eighth inning.

Eddie Morgan, Boston first baseman who defeated the White Sox with a home run with two on in the seventh inning yesterday, repeated his three-run homer in the same frame today.

Boston used three pitchers, with Johnny Welch, who shut out the White Sox the last two innings, receiving the credit. Whitlow Wyatt was the losing relief pitcher for the second straight day, being charged with his season's seventh defeat, as the Red Sox ganged on him for three runs in the tenth after he had been rushed in and fanned Lynn Lary and stopped pinch hitter Rick Ferrell with two men on in the ninth.

Werber stole home in the eighth inning after pitcher Les Tietje had tried to pick Morgan off first base. Another of Werber's thefts, after he had doubled with two out in the tenth, started the Red Sox on their victory rally. He stole third and continued home with what proved to be the deciding run when young Eddie Madjeski, the former Athletic catcher who was making his first appearance behind the plate for the White Sox, threw into the dirt and the ball hopped over Dykes' head into left field.

Carl Reynolds' double after Morgan and R. Johnson had singled and the latter had stolen second scored the other two tenth inning runs.

WORK MUST BE CREATED DECLARES SPEAKER HERE

National Re-Employment Service Director Talks at District Meet

The present conditions existing between business and industry and employment has the country by the throat and some kind of adjustment must be made in the system in order to find a solution to the problem of creating work so that ten to fifteen million people may have a chance to earn a decent living was the assertion made by J. W. Berghold, of Chicago and state director of the National Reemployment Service, last night at a district meeting conducted at the American Legion Home.

About fifty representatives of the eight counties in the district, Schuyler, Menard, Cass, Brown, Pike, Scott, Greene, and Morgan—were called together by the district manager, W. T. Harmon, to hear and take part in a discussion on the problem ahead and for an explanation of the details of operation of the National Reemployment Service, recently organized body for carrying the burden left by the closing of the CWA. Dean W. Peterson, field supervisor, of Springfield, also was present and participated in the discussion.

Mr. Berghold gave the group a description of the events which have led, during the past five years to the problem of the present time. He pointed out that the depression is not represented by unemployment alone, but that the millions out of work form a good indication of a low peak of prosperity. The speaker said that the whole trouble began back several years ago when the peak of production was reached in 1929, while the peak of employment had been reached in 1925. That fact was accounted for by the fact that the average output had been increased through efforts of the industries to get the individual to do better and more efficient work. During that period there was a concentration of wealth in large corporations, under the management of a few.

Reason For Slump
The speaker gave a second reason for the slump in employment as being the fact that the industries, with a few exceptions, are interested in the welfare of the workers only to the extent that it pays dividends to better their conditions. A third reason is that machines have replaced humans because they lower the production costs, the speaker said, pointing out the labor problems subsequently created.

"Left alone, business and industry will never work out a system whereby employment will be spread equally among all the people, and some other means must be depended upon to work out a system," Mr. Berghold said. That system, he pointed out, must be changed from the present one so that the period of tremendous wealth of 1929 will not be returned and its following depression, for those two conditions are inseparable and are certain to come upon the people again if the present system is allowed to go on. The speaker warned that should that occur, there will be danger, for "we have been playing with fire."

He showed how the government had sensed something was either wrong with the present system or that the people running it were incompetent or running it in the wrong direction, and then came the NRA. Mr. Berghold said that the NRA is nothing radical nor is it a revolution. It simply stands for elimination of unfair competition, decent wages, and decent hours for the workers, a move to prevent industries shoving wages down to mere pittance, at the same time allowing industries to operate for profit the same as always. The codes were followed by the PWA, in order to get the local communities to share the problem with the government. The speaker said that the CWA was a god-send and "saved our necks" and we should be grateful for it.

Problem Ahead
The problem ahead is to place people in jobs affording a decent living, and particularly jobs in private industry. It was explained that the NRA is a straight-forward, non-partisan organization that is pushing onward with great force in an effort to overcome the conditions of the present time. It is explained that in each office will be maintained in each county, providing the county meet the expenses outside of the personnel which is kept by the government. Mr. Berghold urged the committees to grasp the opportunities for doing a great patriotic service to humanity by studying out a solution to the problem of each community and not leaving that task for somebody else.

During the open forum discussion which followed the address, Mr. Berghold stated he believed that the proper adjustment will be made some way or another, that we will keep driving onward, perhaps not upward or not downward, but ever forward to a new system that will mean happiness and contentment, but that will require united efforts and cooperation on the part of many and not just a few.

Earl Spink, chairman of the Morgan county committee, gave a word of greeting to the visiting representatives. Mr. Harmon expressed his appreciation of the work and cooperation for the work carried on by the various committees and local managers. Guests at the meeting were R. Y. Rowe, E. R. Franklin, and Fletcher Hopper, presidents of Rotary, Lions, and Kiwanis respectively, and Roy Welch, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Music was furnished during the dinner by the Kalua Hawaiians.

Mrs. J. P. Atkins of Bluffs was shopping in the city Monday.

OPPORTUNITY CLASSES PLANNED AT HIGH SCHOOL

Courses Designed For Individual Instruction For Summer

Special opportunity classes to be held during the summer months at Jacksonville high school, were announced yesterday by Principal J. C. Mutch, following an action taken by the board of education at a recent meeting. The courses will include arithmetic, English, woodworking and manual training, and will be under regular instruction now employed in the school system.

The classes in these respective courses will be arranged for the morning hours, and will be designed entirely for individual instruction, and not as regular classes. An attempt will be made to provide for the needs of the students but no high school credit will be given for the work.

English and arithmetic courses will continue for one hour, five days of the week, and two hours five days a week in manual training. The manual training group will be divided into two sections if there are enough registrants, one class meeting from 8 to 10 each morning and the other from 10 until 12 o'clock.

A fee of $3 for each course will be charged each registrant, and will be payable to the high school office at the time of enrollment. All fees will be returned if there is not enough registered in the courses to make it worth while to go ahead with the plan. Enrollment must be made before Friday, May 25.

"POPPY DAY" TO BE MARKED HERE NEXT SATURDAY

Jacksonville will be called upon to honor the World War dead and give aid to the war's living victims by wearing memorial poppies on May 26. This day, the Saturday before Memorial day, will be "Poppy Day" throughout the United States and will be generally observed by the wearing of the little red flower of Flanders Fields.

Observance of "Poppy Day" here will be directed by the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Hayden Walker, president of the local Auxiliary unit has announced. Women of the Auxiliary will distribute poppies on the streets and receive contributions for the Auxiliary's welfare and relief work among the disabled veterans and their families.

Organization of a corps of volunteer workers to distribute the memorial flowers throughout the city is going forward rapidly under the leadership of Mrs. Wilbur Rogers chairman of the Auxiliary poppy committee.

ARENZVILLE COWS SAVED FROM BLAZE

Arenzville, May 21.—Two International prize winning cows, sold by Charles Nicol of Arenzville for shipment to Australia, were rescued from the Chicago fire just a few hours after they had been checked into the stockyards, Saturday.

The two Polled Shorthorns were sold to Douglas Munro of New South Wales, Australia, and were in a shipment of 11 prize winning heifers which will be the first of their kind ever to be exported to Australia. But their lives were threatened when fire broke out in the stockyards just a few hours after they had been enclosed in the Dexter Park pavilion which is in the center of the stockyards.

The two heifers occupied a private car from Arenzville to Chicago Saturday, and they were carefully led to the Dexter park pavilion and installed there. When the fire broke out, a caretaker rescued the shipment and led them to safety.

HOLD FINAL RITES FOR GEORGE GISH

The pall bearers were Austin Finch, Robert Chapman, William Hull, Harry Petefish, Charles Wilke and Merle Brainer.

Mrs. J. P. Atkins of Bluffs was shopping in the city Monday.

HARRY TRIEBERT NAMED HEAD OF FEDERATED CLUB

H. H. Bancroft is Speaker at Meet; Resolution Opposes Liquor Ordinance

Harry Triebert was elected president of the Men's Federated Club at the meeting of the club at Westminster Presbyterian church last night. Other officers named were Charles Padgett, vice-president; A. D. Hermann, secretary; George H. Bussey, treasurer. The next meeting of the club will be the annual ladies night session. A committee composed of Dr. C. B. Powell, Dr. L. K. Hallock and Fred Balducci was named to make arrangements for the meeting.

The club members then the adoption of a resolution went on record expressing opposition to the proposed change in the liquor ordinance. The ordinance would permit dancing where beer and liquor are sold, and the club resolution states that "in the interest of the youth of the city, who would be most harmed by such ordinance we urge the city council to not pass this ordinance."

H. H. Bancroft was the speaker of the evening, his address being on the history of Passavant hospital. Music at the meeting included vocal solos by Jane Ellen Rogers with Gertrude Kayle as accompanist. The musical selections were "Yesterday and Today," "All for You" and "The Little Brown Owl."

Mr. Bancroft spoke in part as follows:

"Not more than others I deserve but God hath given me more" may well be applied to Jacksonville, a city where religion and education, those two great hand maidens of civilization have flourished so grandly. Illinois College is the oldest going concern of continuous existence in our community. It was founded by Christian leaders and out of the pocket books of Christians came the money to open its doors and to endow its professorships. In the wake of the school and the college and the church comes the hospital, a Christian institution, surely needed when humanity becomes a prey to sickness or injury. Jacksonville is most fortunate in having two fine hospital units and the Passavant Hospital claims the attention of the Protestant churches who have contracted to foster and support it. It is a time tested institution and daily ministers to the need of our own people and the stranger within our gates as the occasion may require. It is right and proper that the spiritual forces of our city and county should get behind this institution with might and main and after all it is the spiritual forces of the world that make all its final determinations.

"The challenge of those of us who profess sincerity in the doctrines of Christianity is this, that if we could give ourselves to the business of war, which paint it as one likes, is nothing but organized destruction, if we could bend all of our energies, if we could regiment our lives in the business of destruction, are we going to say we cannot organize ourselves for constructive living. We have today the greatest opportunity that has ever existed in mankind. It was Calvin Coolidge, I believe, who said that what this country most needed was a revival of the moral earnestness and religious devotion of the revolutionary fathers. I feel that if as a people we can get right with God and quit killing the hog we will eventually emerge from the doldrums of the present and it is our duty at this time to aid Passavant Memorial Hospital in every way we can to the end that its usefulness may not be crippled in these trying days of political chaos, economic depression and social unrest.

A proposal to increase the city's water storage through the erection of another dam and the creation of another lake was brought to the attention of the council by Mayor Wainright, who stated that he has been approached by several interested persons with a feasible plan. A suitable place for the location of a dam has been located not far from the city, he reported, and stated that the land that would be involved in the creation of a lake could be obtained for a reasonable figure. No action was taken on the report, the mayor stating that he would continue to investigate the possibilities of the suggested site.

The mayor's report followed the report of Superintendent Stoldt in regard to the condition of the reservoirs. Mr. Stoldt estimated that there are between 400 and 500 million gallons of water in the lakes at present, enough to run about six months, or possibly longer. The water superintendent said that Jacksonville appeared to be in good condition when the remainder of the state was taken into consideration, but that now was the time to begin conserving the supply. The water at present is about 20 inches below the spillway, he said. He suggested that householders cut down the amount of water used in toilets, cut down on lawn sprinkling and prevent as much waste as possible.

COWHICK FUNERAL IS HELD MONDAY

Winchester, Ill., May 21.—Funeral services for Joseph Cowhick were held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Winchester Christian church with Rev. R. L. Schwab officiating.

The local post of the American Legion was in charge of the services. The church was filled to overflowing by the friends and relatives of the well known World War veteran who was one of the first men to enlist in the war and served his country with honor.

Legionnaires were present from Bluffs, Jacksonville and Robinson. Members of the Legion served as bearers. The many beautiful flowers were in charge of Mesdames Louise Montgomery, Hazel Redshaw, Roy Phears, Elmer Neat, Fern Coultas, Lillian Stewart, William Fath and Winnifred Stewart.

Interment was in Winchester cemetery.

City Council Withdraws Proposed Change in Liquor Law; Talk Lake Situation

Acting unanimously, the city council last night accepted a motion by Alderman Roy Conlee, chairman of the ordinance committee, to withdraw the proposed change in the city's liquor regulatory ordinance which would have permitted dancing in places where liquors were sold. The action was taken after Alderman Conlee explained that he had received a number of protests from citizens regarding the proposal.

Urging the conservation of water, Superintendent George Stoldt of the water department, appeared before the council with a report that there is about six months' supply of water left in the city's reservoirs at present, but that the rainy season had passed without filling the lakes to the usual capacity. He had no immediate fears concerning the water he said, but that now was the time to begin cutting out the waste of water to protecting the present supply.

The council kept its nose on the grindstone, giving its full attention to large and small matters. They decided to obtain an estimate on the cost of tracing all of the titles of property owned by the city, asked for details of a new parking system suggested by Joseph Gomez of the street department, appointed a special committee to meet with the Illinois Power and Light company regarding the unused street car tracks, and then adjourned to meet in the city clerk's office as the liquor control commission.

Withdraws Amendment.
Declaring that he had received a number of calls and considerable criticism for bringing before the council the proposed change in the liquor ordinance which would have permitted dancing in licensed places, Alderman Conlee asked to withdraw the proposed amendment. Mayor Wainright put the request to a vote, and the withdrawal was granted with an unanimous vote of all aldermen.

Pointing out that he was only fulfilling the duties of an alderman and a chairman of the ordinance committee, Mr. Conlee stated that he had been requested by several persons to put the ordinance before the council. He declared he was elected to represent all classes of people in his ward, and that he would be glad to submit ordinances framed by persons in any way they saw fit to frame them. The fact that he submitted the ordinance, he declared, did not signify how he would vote if the measure was brought to a vote. He stated he was opposed to any kind of dancing, and closed with the remark that he did not believe all of the criticism leveled upon his shoulders was justified. He stated after the meeting that he was not considering seeking re-election next year.

A proposal to increase the city's water storage through the erection of another dam and the creation of another lake was brought to the attention of the council by Mayor Wainright, who stated that he has been approached by several interested persons with a feasible plan. A suitable place for the location of a dam has been located not far from the city, he reported, and stated that the land that would be involved in the creation of a lake could be obtained for a reasonable figure. No action was taken on the report, the mayor stating that he would continue to investigate the possibilities of the suggested site.

Dog Tax Collection.
Collecting the troublesome dog tax was brought up again, and after considerable discussion the council took no action. It was suggested that some person be appointed to collect the dog tax on a commission basis. Seventy-five per cent of the money collected on dog taxes is turned over to the police pension fund. City Clerk Phillips stated that the dog tax account was in the red $501 plus postage added to the account for tags purchased upon instructions issued by the council.

The American Legion obtained subject to the approval of business men on the thoroughfare, the right to erect and operate two ferris wheels on Dunlap court during the American Legion convention to be held in this city June 16-17. Basil Sorrells presented the argument for the Legion, aided by Glenn Skinner. The Legionnaires explained that the local post is offering prizes amounting to about $1,000 for various events of the two day meeting.

The D. O. K. K. lodge also was given the right to hold a carnival in this city for one week, with the fee for the carnival to be returned to the lodge. Mayor Wainright declared that this would be the last time the council would agree to remit fees to lodges or groups sponsoring carnivals.

Talk Parking Plan.
Chairman Tom Warwick of the highway committee brought up the matter of a new parking plan for use on the public square and side street and called upon Mr. Gomez to explain the details. Mr. Gomez stated that he had devised a plan whereby there would be only one way traffic on the square, thus eliminating the trouble now experienced at the island lights, and protecting persons attempting to cross the streets. He suggested a 70 degree parking angle to facilitate the parking of automobiles and one way traffic to speed up movement on the square. He was instructed to present a scale drawing of the plan at the next meeting of the council.

Aldermen Warwick, Conlee and Day were appointed on a special committee to confer with the Illinois Power and Light Corporation in an effort to work out some plan whereby the unused street car tracks would be either removed or covered over. The light corporation submitted a plan to the council some time ago, but its terms were not satisfactory to the council.

Investigation of the parcels of property owned by the city, how and when the city obtained title to the various parcels, and what its claims are was finally begun by the council after a long campaign waged by Alderman Harlan Williamson and endorsed by the mayor. The mayor explained that it has come to his attention that the city owns a piece of property upon which a citizen has been paying taxes and special assessments, and that the citizen desires to obtain title to the property. In view of the various legal phases attached to clearing the title, the mayor and council authorized the public improvement committee, along with the city attorney, to obtain figures as to how much it would cost to have the titles of all of the property owned by the city brought up to date.

Gasoline Tax Share.
City Clerk John R. Phillips read a report from the state highway department to the effect that the city's share of the gasoline tax for the month of April was $1,981.84. He also read a letter from the state sanitary department inquiring as to reason that reports from the sewage treatment plants had not been filed with the state department since August, 1933. Discussion revealed that reports had been sent to one department of the sanitary division of the state board of health, but that another department had been overlooked. Reports were ordered sent immediately.

The health report for the month of April, showing 34 deaths and 27 births, was received and placed on file. Alderman J. U. Day, chairman of the fire committee, reported that the city would be called upon to buy new waterproof coats for the firemen in the near future, suggesting that a dozen new coats be purchased, but no action was taken. The council also authorized the expenditure of $6 a month to the federally supported national re-employment service for two months, to pay for the rental on typewriters used by the service. It was explained that this service will not receive any money for two months.

Establishment of a practice range, upon which the city police will be able to practice pistol shooting, was announced by the mayor, who stated that he had purchased a 32 calibre practice pistol and some ammunition and targets to install in the range. Members of the police department also will be trained to use a machine gun, he stated.

Alderman Ralph Green reported that he had investigated the reported dust condition at the Jacksonville Monument works, and that the cause of trouble had been located and repaired. He also expressed his appreciation to the highway department for installing a warning signal on N. Main street near the beginning of the state highway detour. The council authorized the city to furnish gasoline and oil for the chief of police's automobile when used in the line of duty.

MASONIC LODGE OF BEARDSTOWN HOLDS MEETING

Other News Notes of Interest From Beardstown And Vicinity

Beardstown, May 21.—One of the greatest events on the calendar of the local Masonic lodge took place Saturday night, May 19th. Over two hundred Masons from various parts of the state including thirty-eight from Chicago witnessed the M. M. degree.

Dinner was served for 178 men at six o'clock by the ladies of the O. E. S. Following the dinner the meeting adjourned to the lodge room at which time thirty-eight members of Advance Lodge, No. 1039 of Chicago were officially received.

W. P. Reilly, W. M., turned the meeting over to John Larson, Master of Advance lodge who introduced seven past masters and several of the officers and prominent members of his lodge.

Mr. Larson called Mr. Robert E. Beaudouin to the east who introduced his father, Mr. Edward Beaudouin in whose honor the meeting was arranged.

Mr. Robert Beaudouin conferred the second section of the degree on the candidate assisted by a team from Advance lodge composed of E. A. Holmsten, G. W. Johnson, W. F. Green, R. L. Fuhrmann, W. E. Paulsen, C. A. Peterson, C. L. Kramer, E. H. Hanson, J. W. Larson, H. P. Fuller, J. F. Louney, L. R. Clivik, E. Beaudouin and J. D. Malen.

After the degree work refreshments were served in the basement. This trip was arranged by members of Advance Lodge as a courtesy to Mr. Edward Beaudouin whose son is the Senior Warden of Cass Lodge. Leaving here Sunday the group paid a visit to the historic spots in Springfield, Ill.

The first section of the M. M. degree was conferred in the afternoon by J. W. Fagan assisted by J. E. Ock, G. W. Eichen, C. R. Atwood, S. N. Atkinson, G. A. Harney, R. W. Clemens and G. M. Humphrey. Cass Lodge is proud of the large attendance and the splendid co-operation shown by the lodge in central Illinois. Forty-one lodges were represented. Three district deputies, fifteen lecturers and twenty-five past masters were present.

News Notes.
Mr. and Mrs. George B. Ferree and children Richard and Edwin returned to their home in Chenoa Sunday afternoon after being here for the funeral of Mrs. Ferree's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Broadman.

SCHOOL REVENUE DECREASES; MORE STUDENTS ENROLL

Figures To Be Presented At Board of Education Meeting Tonight

Showing a decrease in revenue, amounting to $25,877, and an increase in enrollment of 105 students, in five years figures compiled by Dr. R. O. Stoops, superintendent of the Jacksonville schools, will be presented to the board of education at a called meeting scheduled for tonight. School revenues have been falling off at a rate of more than $5,000 a year for the past five years, the figures show.

Dr. Stoops, in a typewritten report, will report to the board "District 117, therefore, is rendering a steadily declining income, which entails the most rigid economy at every point to keep within a balanced budget. Since the increased enrollment has been in the high school, where the per pupil cost is highest, it has been necessary to add additional teachers to this department in order to meet the standards of efficiency set up by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, of which the Jacksonville high school has been a member in good standing for the past 25 years."

The report was presented several days ago to the finance committee of the school, headed by Charles N. Wright, in order to give the board an idea of what to expect in the future. The board considers that it is facing a severe financial problem during the next few years.

The following table tells the story:

Year	School taxes collected	Pupils in school
1929	$165,270	2,734
1930	$164,272	2,789
1931	$162,821	2,783
1932	$148,265	2,825
1933	$139,393	2,839

Dr. and Mrs. Lester Henderson of Washington, D. C., who have been visiting with Dr. and Mrs. M. D. Henderson left Sunday for California where they will make their home.

Newton Caldwell of Wellington, Kansas, arrived in Franklin today for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Minnie Woods of Waverly visited with relatives here Sunday.

A STOP SIGN MEANS "STOP!"

MOTORISTS

BE SURE YOUR EYES ARE NORMAL.
IF IN DOUBT HAVE THEM EXAMINED.

Too many motorists believe in "luck." They think a "Stop" sign is just another sign. Motorists traveling on an arterial highway are doing so to avoid watching side streets. They are going faster than the driver on a "stop" street, and have the right of way. When you see a "Stop" sign, come to a complete stop and look both ways--be sure the street is clear before you cross. Don't turn off on a side "Stop" street without first bringing your car or truck to a full pause inside the line.

Brass Rails Return to Bars in Gotham

BY HOMER M'COY
New York, May 21.—(P)—The bar-by-John Harmon fellow—put his foot down in New York today.

He put it down on a brass rail. This was done with the approval of the state alcoholic beverage control board which decided that, after all, there is nothing wrong about perpendicular drinking.

Since the repeal of prohibition the feet of Gotham's drinkers have been feverishly groping for rails that weren't there.

In restaurants and bars, this little drama was enacted today, over and over.

"Mix 'em up, Eddie," Then the settling of the elbows on the counter, the planting of the foot on the rail.

The town's professional hosts were ready for the comeback.

At the Park Lane, the standees drank at a forty-foot bar which carries out the rustic note supplied by a mill, a mill-wheel, and a mill pond.

The Hotel McAlpin offered patrons a fifty-foot bar done in the old-school style of heavy walnut. The McAlpin gave up its frantic search for pieces of its historic horseshoe bar which was sawed up and given away, bit by bit, the night prohibition went into effect.

The hotel management learned that one of the pieces was in Assyria.

Some of the larger places were not ready for bar customers, but they announced plans. According to their stories New York is going to have at least three bars, each of which will be the largest in the world.

Paraguay Ready for Great Chaco Battle

By LORENZO LIZIERES
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)
Asuncion, Paraguay, May 21.—(P)—Paraguay men and guns were thrown into position among a 25-mile front today in preparation for a great offensive against the most important Bolivian stronghold in the Gran Chaco, Fort Ballivian.

Bolivian forces opened hostilities yesterday with a surprise attack but were repulsed with the loss of 200 men.

Well-informed sources believed the projected engagement will prove the crucial battle in the warfare over the Gran Chaco jungle border region.

After sweeping over all Bolivian forts throughout the Chaco, the Paraguayan high command has concentrated approximately 40,000 men divided into four units in the last forests of the Chaco.

MARY PICKFORD SILENT
Beverly Hills, May 21.—(P)—Silent on the state of her marital affairs, Mary Pickford arrived home over the week-end and made plans for a personal appearance tour on the Pacific coast, to start within two weeks.

Flying back to California from the east, she was met at an airport by her sister, Lottie, and her niece, Gwen Pickford. When the subject of her separation from Douglas Fairbanks was broached, she commented that "this is not the time or place" for such a discussion. Fairbanks is in England.

EXPECT SALARY RAISE
Harrisburg, Ill., May 21.—(P)—While no official action has been taken by the city council, the restoration of salary reductions of the past two years is expected to be made to the city employees when the city council meets tomorrow night, Mayor G. B. Hart announced today.

Rumor Macedonia is Opposed to Form of New Bulgarian Rule

By WADE WERNER
(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press)

Sofia, Bulgaria, May 21.—The possibility of a new government succeeding Bulgaria's Fascist-minded military dictatorship as soon as it has completed its immediate task of reorganizing the country on an authoritarian basis was the subject of discussion and conjecture today.

Questioned by The Associated Press on this point, Kirov, Georgieff, who became premier under the terms of the military Saturday, avoided a direct denial that his government is temporary.

"It is our intention," he said, "to give this country a strong, stable government."

The real purpose of the bloodless, bulletless coup d'etat, he emphasized, was not to change persons, but to change the system."

Georgieff expressed conviction that the Bulgarian army is "unanimously behind the new regime which had won general acclaim today with promises to balance the budget, re-establish credit, raise the cultural level of villages and make credit accessible to farmers."

Only from Macedonia came rumors of opposition to the new order, and they were only rumors. There has been a strong revolutionary sentiment among Macedonians, with autonomy as their goal. The new government is flatly opposed to any step toward Macedonian autonomy and in this sentiment is allied with Greece and Yugoslavia. It is among these three countries—Bulgaria, Greece and Yugoslavia—that Macedonia is divided.

The leader of the movement for Macedonian independence, Ivan "King" Ivan they call him, Mihailoff, was reported yesterday to have been captured, killed and to have died in Greece.

One of the first jobs facing the new premier-dictator is the formation of a legislative body, the parliament having been dissolved by decrees of King Boris. The new body will have 100 members instead of 274 as formerly. Seventy-five of the 100 will be appointed, thus giving absolute control to the government.

Georgieff has declared he will follow along the general lines of foreign policy laid down by the former government.

SYNOPSIS

Young and beautiful Stanley Paige loses her fortune through market speculation but a harder blow comes when her fiancé, the fascinating, irresponsible Drew Armitage, tells her it would be madness to marry on his income and leaves town. Penniless and broken-hearted, Stanley refuses to seek aid from her wealthy friends.

Desiring to make her own way, Stanley drops out of her exclusive circle and rents a cheap furnished room. After a week of loneliness and trying to adapt herself to her poor surroundings, Stanley calls on Nigel Stern, one of her society friends, and asks his aid in securing a position. Nigel urges her to marry the handsome and wealthy young lawyer, Perry Deverest, who has loved her devotedly for years.

Stanley's heart is with Drew. Nigel suggests that she think it over, and then, if she still wants a position, he will try to place her. Stanley does not go back to Nigel, realizing it would mean meeting all her old friends. One day, when Stanley is more lonely than usual, she meets John Harmon Northrup, a struggling young author, and is touched by his sincerity. Stanley finally procures a position and grows curiously content. Then, too, having John Harmon waiting for her at the end of the day, helped make things brighter. He and his ready smile became very important to Stanley.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE
They talked a lot about John Harmon's book. The first half had already taken shape but the real plan of the book was still in the making.

"You know, Stanley," John Harmon would say, sitting up abruptly on the sand, his eyes excited. "I can figure the thing all out before hand—have a definite idea in view—a real plot to follow, sequence, form, all that sort of thing—but when I get to writing, it doesn't work out that way at all. The people simply won't do or say the things I planned for them—they take the story and walk away with it—upset the apperact completely. I'm perfectly helpless, once I've created a character, to make it behave!"

Stanley, slim in a scarlet bathing suit, her dark hair pushed off her forehead, her eyes shining and completely absorbed, would rush headlong into the conversation. That's why the stuff you write is so real, the people in your stories aren't you, saying the things John Harmon Northrup would say, doing the things a John Harmon Northrup would do. They're themselves, each one individual and clean-cut. Sometimes they're so different from you I don't believe you really understood them yourself. Sometimes I think you're amazed at them or disgusted or even utterly disillusioned!"

"I am!" John Harmon would admit honestly. "And a little bit scared of them, too. They play the very devil with my originality—sort of discard it as so much bunk and go ahead and write the story themselves. Now, take Gloria, for instance—" and he would plunge into an hour's discussion of why she had done a certain thing, reacted to a certain situation in exactly the opposite way from what he had intended. "And the deuce of it is, there's nothing I can do about it!" he would conclude, with a shrug of his shoulders, smoking furiously, one hand ruffling his damp, brown hair.

On rainy Sundays, they would have dinner at one of the little eating places in the Village—perhaps a little French restaurant where there was music and good food and one met informal, interesting people who eat long over their coffee and cigarettes. Or perhaps at a little place called the "Copper Kettle" where the tables were bright red and white checked tablecloths and one ate deliciously cooked food served on thick crockery in an atmosphere of warm yellow walls and mellow candlelight.

Sometimes Valerie was included on these occasions but usually she went with a crowd more to her liking—a crowd of pretty, restless girls, expertly well-dressed, expertly well-informed.

"A girl like me," Valerie explained one day, curled up at the foot of Stanley's bed, wrapped in a flame-colored coolie coat, "can give just so much—and no more. Can feel just so much—and no more. We have to be hard, hard as nails. Gosh! What I wouldn't give to indulge in one real honest-to-goodness emotion—but it wouldn't pay. Take Jimmy, for instance. Well, I don't go out with him any more. I don't dare. I couldn't be hard about Jimmy, so I keep away from him."

"But if you liked him, why not go on? Let yourself care?" Stanley looked up at a bit puzzled, from where she was drying her hair by the open window.

"Because I can't afford to care for a boy like Jimmy. He's a shipwrecked clerk on a salary smaller than mine, and sooner or later it would mean marriage, and marriage between us would be a disaster. Valerie spoke unemotionally, evenly, with the quiet finality of one who has figured things out carefully and reached an irrevocable decision. "I've seen the sort of marriage ours would be. Seen it all my life—in my own home, in my own street, everywhere. You give up your youth and your good looks and your health, and what do you get? A few months of being happy and then years of being miserable, of being poor, of being always tired and dragged out. When you start in, you're in love and you're young, and you think you've got the world by the tail. You get married with just enough to live on and no margin—and something happens. You're sick or you lose your job or your mother-in-law has to have an operation—and there are always children when you can't even take care of yourself—and you go under. You forget you were ever young or pretty or in love. You get bitter and discouraged and admit you've made a mistake but you're caught and you've got to keep on."

Valerie stopped, smoked hard for a moment. "No, it's no good, I've done it all out. Love is a luxury a girl like me can't afford. That's why I take my pleasures lightly and pay little for them. I can't afford to have any real feelings. They call girls like me gold-diggers and I suppose we are—always looking for a ritzy date, always more interested in our dinner than our dinner partners. But why not? We've got to have something to make up for all we can't have."

"I've heard someone talk like that before—about love and marriage. I mean—they seemed to have about the same idea," Stanley spoke quietly.

"I know—that man you were engaged to, I suppose. He wouldn't give up the luxuries of life—I won't give up the necessities," Valerie wrinkled her forehead, stared at Stanley reflectively. "You still love him a lot, don't you?"

"I expect I do, Val."

"Even when you know he isn't worth it?"

"Even then."

"How do you feel about John Harmon?"

"I don't know—he's very necessary to me."

"Did you ever think he might be in love with you?"

"I've thought of that, but I don't think he is. He's
